A Sermon Occasioned by the Death of Mr. Josiah Pratt Forgotten Books

Excerpt from A Sermon Occasioned by the Death of the Rev. James Patterson: Preached in the First Presbyterian Church, Northern Liberties, November 26th; And in the First Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia, December 3d, 1837 I am by no means insensible to the difficulty of appropriately discharging the duty which devolves upon me in the services of this day. With that "godly" and "faithful" man whom it has pleased the Great Disposer of all events to remove from us by death, I had comparatively but a brief acquaintance. He was much my senior in age, and in the ministry; nor was it my privilege to be personally acquainted with him, to any considerable extent, until within the last seven years. Of course, there is a large portion of his public and private life of which I have no personal knowledge; and on this account, as well as on many others, I could have wished that some other person had been selected to discharge the mournful duty of this day. I am not insensible, furthermore, to the difficulty of meeting, on this occasion, the expectation of a bereaved and much afflicted church and congregation. It is always difficult to speak in a proper manner of the dead; so to commend their virtues, and so to mingle lights and shades in portraying their character - for all our friends, as well as ourselves, have shades in their character - as to gratify the feelings of surviving friends and to make the memory of their example useful to the living. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. A Funeral Sermon occasioned by the death of Mr. Hugh Bourne, etc

Franklin Classics

Excerpt from A Sermon, Occasioned by the Death of Rev. James S. Adams: Preached Before Bethel Presbytery, During Their Spring Sessions, 1844, in Catholic Church, Chester District, S. C "My father, my father; the chariot of Israel, and the horsemen thereof." - 2 Kings, ii. 12. Elijah the Tishbite, the bold and intrepid prophet of the Most High, after a life of preeminent devotedness to the service of God and the welfare of man, is to be removed from this, to a higher sphere of service; to one of nearer and more intimate communion with God. His labors are finished, the affairs of earth are wound up, a chariot of fire conveys him from earth to heaven. Elisha, his attendant, witnesses the whole scene, and gazing with amazement on his ascending master, pours forth the impassioned language of our text, "My father, my father, the chariot of Israel and the horsemen thereof?" This is at once the language of grief and of astonishment; but we may ask, where is its propriety? In the days of the prophet, the chariot and the horsemen, were the terror of the battle field, and the means of victory, the very bulwark of national safety. But we are not informed that Elijah ever drew the sword as a warrior, or appeared with the chariot and the horse in the martial field. Such was his outward condition. What a character is this, and in what-favorable circumstances is he placed, for the Lord to try; and to try severely What glory will redound to the grace of God, if he bears with patience those coming events which are to test his piety! How natural that Satan should exclaim. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. Find more at in the First Presbyterian Church, Newark, New Jersey, on the Morning of Oct; 31, and Repeated by Request in the Same Place Nov; 14, 1852 Ster. That will be done by other tongues and pens. Yea, the hearts of a whole people are doing it, at this moment, in silent admiration and grief. My object is, to seize on this occasion, when the feelings of neither you nor me will allow us to turn away from the event referred to, in order to impress some truths naturally suggested by it, which may be of use to us, both as citizens and as creatures of god, passing away to an immortal existence. My subject will be, great men, in their relations both to God and to man kind. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. Find more at
